

Solitude and creation

Affonso Henrique Vieira da Costa*

Abstract:

The objective of this article is to reflect on the relationship between solitude and creation in the speech “Of the way of the creator” from Thus spoke Zarathustra. After the death of God, understood as devaluation of superior values, solitude is analyzed as inherent to our historical moment, and creation as the possibility to resume life from a different instance, the one of loyalty to Earth which is characteristic of the Superman.

Key-words: Solitude; Creation; Zarathustra
