

About the concept of truth in Nietzsche

Gustavo Arantes Camargo*

Abstract:

This article deals with the nietzschean critique of the concept of truth conceived as universal and resultant of a cognitive investigation neutral and exempt. We will analyze the nietzschean accusation that the traditional notion of truth is related to a moralist prejudice invented to legitimate the superiority of certain metaphysical values.

Key-words: Moral, Truth, Value.

* Doutor em filosofia pela PUC-Rio